

The Album is Here!

If you didn't see my last supplemental email, I have big news! My Star Trek cover album has finally released and is available for download on my website! It is also now available on all major music streaming services, such as Spotify, Apple Music, YouTube music, and Amazon. Go give it a listen if you haven't already!

For right now, the album is available exclusively on my website digitally. What about physical media? I have sent the album off to be printed to CDs, but priority is going to my Kickstarter backers for now. When I complete those orders, I will evaluate how many I have left and see about posting them for sale on my website. If you are absolutely adamant about owning a physical CD, do me a huge favor and use the CONTACT tab on my website and send me a message stating your interest. If I know ahead of time how many people are actually interested, I might look into ordering some additional copies in the future.

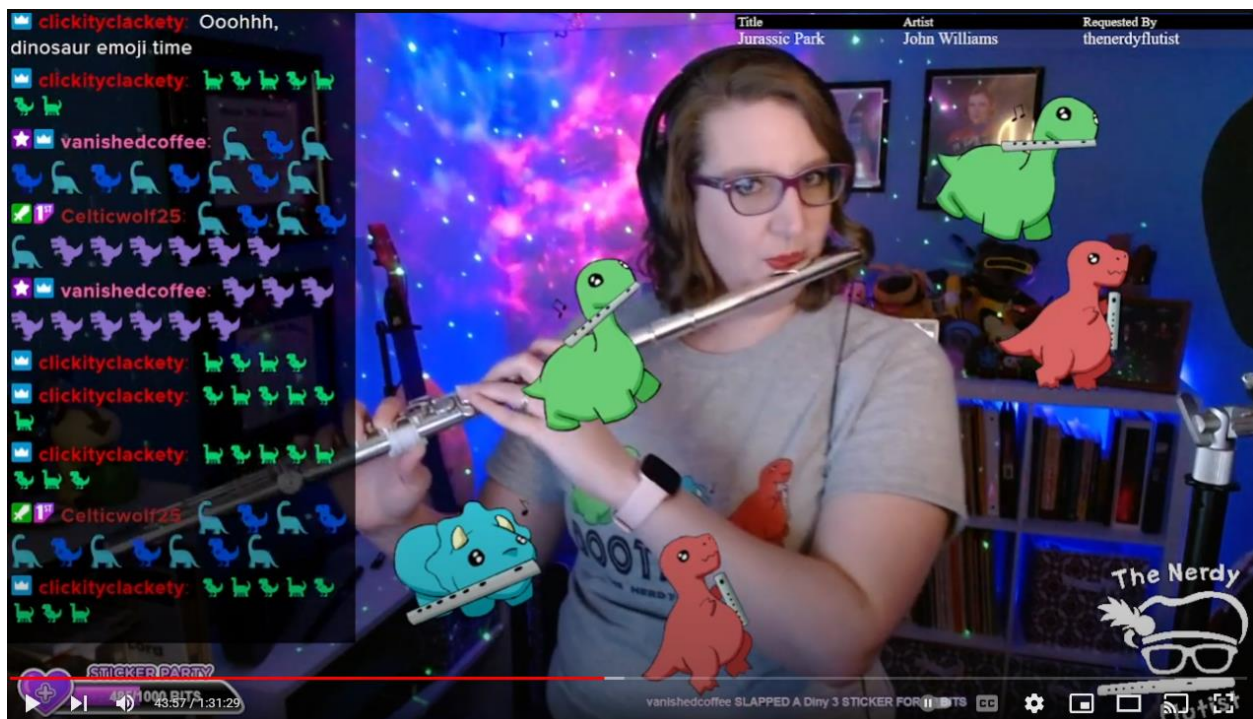

What's Next for The Nerdy Flutist?

I am so excited that this project has been completed and people are enjoying it! But, now I need to look forward to the horizon once again and keep creating things for you to enjoy. I tend to keep my Patreon updated on all of my super secret future plans for new recording projects, so if you're able and willing go check it out for exclusive updates! In the meantime, I am happy to share what I have on the immediate horizon...

Back to Live Streaming

I took a little bit of a break from Twitch to recharge my batteries and finish the album, but I miss it! I am planning on returning to the world of live streaming very soon. In fact, I will be doing a very special ALBUM CELEBRATION stream on Monday, March 18th at 7pm EST. I have all new updated backing tracks based on the beautiful work my producer did on the album and I cannot wait to share them with you.

"But Kelly," I hear you saying. "I don't have Twitch. I'm not on Twitch. What is a Twitch? I don't want to sign up for another thing..."

I hear you. But there's great news...signing up for Twitch is 100% FREE. You do not need to pay for a subscription to view my channel, and I have it currently set up so that mid-roll ads will never interrupt the stream. You know what I love about watching Twitch? I have it installed on my smart TV and I can watch it there like I'm watching my favorite TV show (three guesses as to what show that is hahaha...) Also, you can live chat during the stream and I will most likely respond! So if you have any questions for me, I can answer them in real time. Or, you can just turn on the stream and sit back, relax, and listen.

Also, I am starting a regular gaming stream if you're into that sort of thing. On Wednesdays at 7pm EST, I will be streaming video games as a casual way to hang out in real time with you all. Right now my game of choice is Minecraft, but I'm looking to expand into other cozy games as I feel like changing things up.

New Music

Now that I have the Star Trek album done, I would like to continue branching out into other things on my list of favorite fandoms. I am continuing to learn new songs and spruce up the arrangements I already made. If you have a song from your favorite TV show, movie, or video game, feel free to join my Discord community and leave a request in the Song Suggestion Box channel!

Become an Officer for even more updates...

In addition to this monthly briefing, I will be posting any upcoming projects and behind-the-scenes info to my Patreon community. If you are interested in becoming more involved and supporting my music and content directly, you can join my Patreon to become an "officer" and receive special privileges! Officers can make requests for songs to be played on livestream, new videos, and have a special section of my Discord to chat with me directly. Occasionally I even play games with my officers on Twitch! And I know what you're thinking, "if I'm an officer, do I receive a rank?" Absolutely! Check out my Patreon HERE to learn more.

The Nerdy Network

Interested in joining the community but need a free option? Join my Discord server to become a crewmember! The Nerdy Network is a place where you can see announcements from me and chat with fellow nerds from around the world!

Share | The Nerdy Flutist